History of the U. P. Church of Cedarville, Ohio

REV. F. O. ROSS.

Among those who preached in the church in early times was one minister named Archibald Nesbit. From 1853 he was a stated supply at Yellow Springs for a year or more, and frequently came over to Cedarville to preach. He had been born, educated, licensed and ordained in Scotland, and came over to this country and joined the Bullionites. He was highly educated, scholarly in all his sermons, and was a brilliant and magnificent speaker. His appearance was so peculiar as to attract attention; at once and was not easily forgotten. He had a massive forehead and a deep valley run from his nose upward. His brain seemed to bulge his forehead outward on either side, giving him a very striking and intellectual appearance. He joined the Associate Reformed Church in Feb. 1853, supplied Yellow Springs until 1855, when he removed to Chicago and gathered together the Associate Reformed church at that place. Being an attractive and eloquent speaker, the church grew rapidly. In 1858 he and a majority of the congregation refused to enter the union and united with the Old School Presbyterian Church, but the minority (about 50 or 60) favored the U. P. church and were organized as a congregation which still exists as the 1st church where Rev. James McQuilkin now ministers.

One of the charter members of the congregation—Mrs. Ina Townsley—was the first white girl born in Cedarville. She was Saline McCoy, daughter of Capt. James McCoy and was born in 1803 on what is now known as the John Gibson farm, one mile northwest of Cedarville.

"Taking up the collection" as it was called at that day, were it to be collected now as then would be quite an interesting performance. There were no collection baskets, but in their places there was a velvet sack with open top upon the end of a pole 7 or 8 feet long, to enable the collector to reach the farthest end of the pew. It required considerable skill on the part of the operator, lest he should rap the heads of the contributors with it unintentionally.

The prospect for growth in the congregation was at first quite flattering. In 1846 Judge Kyle had a family of seven boys and four girls, John Turnbull had six boys and three girls and a man by the name of Gowdy who lived toward Springfield had eight or nine boys who were nearly all full grown, and the last named family used to march into church in single file, increasing the congregation and confusion by their coming.

In 1860 some of the workers with the assistance of the other churches organized a mission Sabbath school in the old Baptist church. Hugh Parks Jackson was chosen Superintendent. An effort was made to get all the children into it that did not attend elsewhere. The children were shy, but one day a few of them ventured to the door and peeped in. The superintendent started to the door to invite them in, but they vanished before he reached it. Knowing that they had gone around the house, he followed them and found them under the house behind the pillars upon which the house stood. They yielded to kindly persuasion and entered the school and were regular attendants ever after. The school met at 4 or 5 p. m. and continued for a few months and was dropped.

While the congregation was disturbed by matters which threatened the peace of the fold, there were other incidents which left pleasant and amusing memories. Rev. Hugh Parks Jackson has contributed the following reminiscences of those early years. We give them in his own language, and to those who recall them they were at that day certainly ludicrous.

"Infants were numerous at church in the early days of the congregation, frequently there would be a howling time by the children, and a great stir in the camp among the mothers. Some of them would grab their youngsters around the waist with one arm, face downward, and rush for the door, while the 'kid' roared with wide open mouth and kicked lustily with his feet as he was hustled along the aisle to the door."

"Sleeping in church" became a habit with quite a number of the members along in the 50s. They would every Sabbath courteously bow the head and swing it back till the under jaw would drop and the mouth was open to catch the young fly strolling around on the Sabbath day against its mother's wishes. They in this way assented to all the preacher said. One warm July Sabbath, Rev. Cunningham Jackson was home on a visit and preached on Paul's long sermon at Troas. "A young man," he said, "went to sleep while Paul preached and fell down from the third loft and broke his neck. It served him right, for he had no business to go to sleep; but if all those who are now sleeping would fall out, the church would soon become depopulated." It was wonderful how quickly the sleepers began to wake up and try to shake off their drowsiness.

Sleeping in church might be regarded as a compliment to the preacher of those times. It was a high tribute to his orthodoxy, at least that the watchful elders could entrust the preaching of sound theology to him without fear of heterodoxy being sown while they slept.

Other amusing incidents from the pen of Rev. H. P. Jackson will be given next week.

FORMAL GATHERING.

A number of invited citizens met at the township clerk's office last Friday evening to select delegates to the Congressional convention. Those invited met at C. M. Ridgway's drugstore and marched from there in a body to the clerk's office about ten minutes before seven o'clock, this being the appointed hour for the gathering. The affair being one of those formal political society functions, the public was not aware of what was taking place on that evening. The guests were entertained in a manner fitting to the occasion, while the "leaders" mingled with the "lower lights" for a few moments and announced the slate. There is no doubt but that a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all present, for at exactly seven o'clock the guests, 15 in number, took their departure, some going one direction and some another but most of them returned to the place from which they came, presumably to finish the celebrity of the evening. The affair being strictly formal, none only invited guests were present. No doubt those present will look forward to many more like events.

SCHOOL BOARDS ORGANIZE.

The township school board met in the clerk's office Monday and effected the following organization: President, G. E. Jobe; Committee on Text Books, N. L. Ramsey, J. E. Turnbull, J. A. Stormont; Building and Grounds, W. R. McMillan, J. C. Stormont, A. L. Ferguson. Each of the directors is allowed supplies to the amount of $50 without bringing the matter before the board. Miss Jennie Morton was elected professor of music for next year. Music will be taught nine months. Experienced teachers will get $40 and inexperienced $35 per month. The following are the directors and districts: A. L. Ferguson, 1; J. C. Stormont, 2; N. L. Ramsey, 3; R. B. Barber, 4; J. E. Turnbull, 5; J. H. Stormont, 6; W. R. McMillan, 7; G. E. Jobe, 8.

CALLED MEETING.

A called meeting of council was held last Friday evening and the question of the corporation's purchasing a portion of land from James Orr was taken up, but no definite action was taken. Another meeting was called for Tuesday evening, at the request of Will Frey, who represents the Springfield & Washington C. H. Traction Company. His object was to get a resolution passed empowering the clerk to advertise for bids and application for franchise. But at the time of the meeting Mr. Frey failed to appear and the matter was carried over until the next meeting. Mr. Frey reports that they have contracted for private right of way from Springfield to Washington C. H. and that they are ready for their franchise. There seems to be an inclination towards getting the two Frey roads mixed. One is Will Frey, the other Harry Frey. The latter was granted a franchise last year but allowed it to expire.

VACANT HOUSES SCARCE.

There seems to be quite a scarcity of houses to rent, that is houses that are suitable for the majority of citizens. The present situation has caused rents to be raised, and they will continue to rise so long as the situation exists. As there are quite a number of vacant lots in town that would make desirable building sites, the owners would certainly find paying investments should they build cottages thereon this coming summer. We need more cottages. Who will be the first to build?

DISPUTE SETTLED.

At the last election the question of keeping a separate ballot-box for the votes of women on the board of education came up. William Conley wrote to the Secretary of State and has received the following, which settles all disputes:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
COLUMBUS, O.

April 15, 1902.

Dear Sir—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 12th inst., inquiring whether a separate ballot-box should be provided for the ballots of women who vote for members of the board of education. In reply beg to say that the law provides that a separate ballot-box shall be used for the election of members of the board of education. The election is conducted by the same judges and clerks as conduct the regular township elections. All ballots received for members of the board of education, whether cast by men or women, are deposited in the ballot box provided for that purpose. No separate box should be used to receive the ballots of women who vote at such elections.

Very respectfully,
LOUIS C. LAYMAN,
Secretary of State.

The United States will have only one ship at the naval display at King Edward's coronation, in accordance with the instructions from England which have been sent to other nations also. This country had planned to send a whole squadron. The probable reason for the change in plans is that it will be impossible to provide for the entertainment of a great number of officers.

The Great Dismal Swamp of Virginia is a breeding ground of malaria germs. So is low, wet or marshy ground everywhere. These germs cause weakness, chills and fever, aches in the bones and muscles, and may induce dangerous maladies. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and cure malarial troubles. We tried many remedies for malaria and stomach and liver troubles, writes John Charleston, of Byeville, O., "but never found anything as good as Electric Bitters." Try them. Only 50c. FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

"Double Dutch" Was the Boy's Respectful Admission.
It is pleasant to see the little girl in public squares or on private sidewalks in quiet parts of the city busy with their jumping ropes. They never seem to weary of it and work an infinite variety of steps. "Salt, pepper, vinegar, mustard," cry the little maidens, industriously turning the skipping ropes and leaping backward and forward over the flying bemp. The rope is waved faster and faster as the condigns increase in ferocity. Back door or front door is the mandate of the jumper commanding the turners to turn the rope either away from or toward the jumper. At the signal "My little cup and saucer must go over my head" the jumping maiden stoops and raises her head.

But the triumph of the rope skipper is in going through the motion called "double Dutch." This is a feat at which little brothers or boy cousins look with respectful admiration. Two ropes are turned at the same time, one in each direction, and real skill is required to jump over them without tripping or catching one's foot in the flying ropes. To jump double Dutch is the top and crown of the little maiden's ambition in this direction.—Philadelphia Record.

Rescued by a Baboon.
When Brehm, the German naturalist, was in Abyssinia, he and his party one day fell in with a band of baboons in a valley. The apes retired before the travelers, all save a poor, sickly creature, which sat on a rock and howled in fear and trembling. The visitors dogs made a rush for the spot, but before they could reach it an old baboon darted down the hillside, picked up its young and sickly comrade from under the very noses of the dogs, which scattered forthwith rather than tackle the newcomer, and carried it off amid fierce barks of victory and derision.

Kites With Lanterns.
At the rural points in Maine, where they know how, flying kites to which lighted Chinese lanterns are attached is a very popular amusement. A good sized kite will carry a number of lanterns, and the effect when it is at some distance in the air is very striking. Where it has not been tried it ought to be, as the feat is not a difficult one, and it causes no end of sport.—Exchange.

Little Folk of Royal Birth.
Here is a picture of the charming little children of the crown princess of Roumania. I doubt if any of our readers have ever seen such very queer costumes on any little folk they know. Although they look odd and funny to us, they are just the most correct costumes you can imagine in Roumania, and they are made of beautiful silks and velvets, with jewels for buttons.

Carlos and Sylvia.
some day he may occupy the throne and rule the whole nation. Perhaps one reason they are so popular is because they wear the national costume, as you can see in their picture. Some time ago some of the rich Roumanian families began to dress their children after the English and American fashions, and it looked as if the national costume would at length disappear and every one would dress just as we do, but Carlos and Sylvia have changed all that, for, of course, what they wear is the fashion for every other little boy and girl in the country.—New York Herald.

Two Monkeys.
I had a little monkey once:
I tied him with a string;
He learned more tricks than I can tell;
He could do everything.
We romped and played together just like two great jolly boys.
The family said "the monkeys made an awful lot of noise."
You see, they called my monkey, too.
You see, my little sister,
I didn't mind, but baby did.
Because a monkey kissed her!
She said her mother shouldn't be "The mother to a monkey!"
Indeed she screamed and carried on and acted awful spunky.
But now my monkey's gone away,
And I am lonesome—kinder.
—New York Tribune.

The question has been asked, "In what way are Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets superior to pills?" Our answer is: They are easier and more pleasant to take, more mild and gentle in effect and more reliable, as they can always be depended upon. Then they cleanse and invigorate the stomach and leave the bowels in a natural condition, while pills are more harsh in effect and their use is often followed by constipation. For sale by C. M. Ridgway, Druggist.

QUERY.

"There's a man and a maid and a little gray cat,
A sitting upon a wall;
And I'll tell you just what the three were at—
I know though I didn't see all.
The man was scratching a puzzled head,
While the maid, with a troubled air,
Was playing the catechist blushing red;
The cat was washing her hair.
"Don't you know," said the maid,
"that 'tis very wrong?"
"I don't see why," said the man.
"Don't you know we've been acquainted long?"
"Well, I'm getting on, just as I can,"
"Why, be stubborn?" the catechist asked, in despair.
The rest was the part that I missed;
But the man kissed one of the two that was there—
Do you think 'twas the cat he kissed?"

A VALUABLE MEDICINE.
For Coughs and Colds in Children.
"I have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all who are suffering from coughs or colds," says Charles M. Cramer, Esq., a well known watchmaker, of Columbus, Ceylon. "It has been some two years since the City Dispensary first called my attention to this valuable medicine and I have repeatedly used it and it has always been beneficial. It has cured me quickly of all chest colds. It is especially effective for children and seldom takes more than one bottle to cure them of hoarseness. I have persuaded many to try this valuable medicine, and they are all as well pleased as myself over the results." For sale by C. M. Ridgway, druggist.

Question Answered.
Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Get Green's Prize Almanac.

The four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Irvine fell over the embankment at the stone quarries near the bridge on East street last Sabbath afternoon. The little fellow ventured too near the edge and lost his balance, falling some fifteen feet or more. The elder brother, about eight years of age, seeing what had happened, descended the bank to assist his brother and in doing so fell and badly sprained his arm. A physician was called and eight stitches were required to sew up the wound in the younger boy's scalp.

J. M. Tarbox & Son have received a car load of red cedar shingles from the State of Washington. The scarcity of red cedar in this section of the country has forced lumber men to Western States for orders in this line. It might be of interest for us to state what the freight would be on such a car of freight from that distance. Three hundred dollars was the amount paid the railroad company. Under such conditions builders should not become alarmed when they are told the price of red cedar shingles.

This act provides second grade pensions of $30 per month for proven second grade disability for the period thereof, even though they may have been found, on official medical examination, to have recovered. The decision is given after two years of litigation.

The time of year is at hand when the majority of citizens will sit by a lighted lamp during the cool nights in order to keep warm. The women have carpets, beds, furniture and every movable object out in the open air. The resident streets resemble the outskirts of most any city. Yet we must have cleanliness even if husbands are compelled to sleep on the floor for a few nights and eat their meals from the pantry shelf or a store box in the back yard. Is it any wonder the men folk threaten to desert their homes at this season of the year?

A new line of Gasoline Stoves at Geo. A. Shroeder, Lowry Block.

John Murdock and family of Indiana moved their goods here this week, having decided to locate at this place. The Clark county commissioners on Monday granted the Springfield & Washington C. H. From all appearances it seems as though this company means business, yet we can't tell; there may be another set of promoters along before the company gets down to business.

O. E. Bradfute, one of the members of the Ohio State Experimental Board, left last evening for Columbus to meet with the finance committee of the Senate.
